

In the spirit of free competition, we should not interfere with the marketplace, allow the competition to sort things out. If the Satellite companies can provide better programming and selection, good for them. The traditional players should improve their content in order to compete, and not look for government intervention.

Thanks !

Joe Ciocco